SUBJECT: Split of MAS and CIS Department

As my previous memo stated the Department of MAS and CIS has voted to split the department. This has been approved by the School of Business Administration.

Each faculty member has indicated the department of his/her choice. These requests are being coordinated with the faculty members of the proposed two departments and the Dean of the School. The degree offerings will be split along natural lines. Thus the BBA in CIS and the MS in CIS will be administered by the CIS Department and the BS in Systems Analysis and the MS in Management Science will be administered by the MAS Department.

There is a natural and obvious division in the course offerings at both the undergraduate and graduate levels which will determine the department in which they will reside after the break.

SUBJECT: Splitting the Department of Management Science and Computer Information Systems

Recently the Department voted overwhelmingly to split into two separate departments. There are a number of good reasons for taking this action which, incidently, is in concert with the trend in many of the top business schools in the country.

The Computer Information Systems area has matured into a separate and distinct discipline with its own journals and professional societies. The continued growth of each area would be enhanced by the proposed split. Recruiting good faculty into separate departments would be easier, as faculty are attracted to more homogeneous departments. This, in turn, would facilitate course and program development.

Each department member has agreed on which department they will be in. Since the costs of the proposed split are minimal, and the potential benefits are substantial, I strongly support the proposed departmental split and wish to take action on this matter as soon as possible.
