Faculty Senate Action, 87032
Class C Legislation

Revision of page 118 of the Faculty Manual on Research Personnel

The University has established a personnel category for those professional and highly skilled employees staff of the University whose duties relate primarily to research and training and whose support is usually derived from sources outside the University. Included in this classification are the staff positions of Postdoctoral Associates, Training Associates, and Research Associates. Such staff shall not be given the primary responsibility for teaching classes unless concurrently given faculty appointments under the normal rules and procedures. The employment of these individuals is governed by the Policies and Procedures Manual for Research Personnel, available in the Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Luis Glaser, Provost
FROM: John Knoblock, Chairman
Faculty Senate
DATE: October 7, 1987
SUBJECT: Research Personnel

It has come to my attention that several people in the University, other than in the School of Communication, hold the staff positions of Training Associates and Research Associates and are teaching classes. This may be indicative of a broader abuse of the research personnel titles where faculty titles alone are appropriate. It certainly signals the need both for revision of the description on page 118 of the Manual and for more careful monitoring of the use of these staff titles.

Accordingly, I ask that the Faculty Senate be supplied with a list of all persons holding any research personnel title and that any person holding such title who has taught any course since Fall 1986 be identified.
