Memo To: Dr. Terry Scandura
From: Sam Terilli, CNJ Journalism Program Director
Subject: CNJ program name on the graduate level

As you may recall, over the summer we concluded we needed to change the name of our CNJ graduate journalism program or track from Print Journalism to something more current. This program falls under the general M.A. degree in Communication as one of the programs or tracks within the School of Communication at the graduate level.

We have since concluded that the actual name of the track is Journalism. Apparently, a few years ago the word "print" was inserted in editing some printed brochures and web copy to distinguish the track from the broadcasting track. Consequently, the program faculty and the School of Communication's graduate committee have voted simply to return to the actual name, which is Journalism and dispense with the use of "print" in any of the materials referring to what we offer.

My understanding is that this action does not require formal approval. I am providing this for informational purposes. Please let me know if you have any questions.
